It's Better Because It's Canadian

In every class and style of automobile . . . for every purse and every purpose . . . there is a General Motors car, built in Canada by an organization which has supplied Canadians with transportation since the days of Confederation.

Each General Motors car reflects in its value the economies of volume production, and in its quality the highest traditions of Canadian craftsmanship. Each is a better car . . . because it is Canadian.

The Service a Bank Renders

From the very moment production of a commodity is planned until through the channels of commerce, it finds its way to the ultimate consumer, it must be financed. In providing funds to finance production and distribution, banking renders one of its major services to the community.
